PHIL YOUNG'S ENGLISH SCHOOL

Intermediate 4 · Test 2 Extra Practice

UNITS 8 & 9

Extra practice for Units 8 and 9 — read each grammar box before you start the exercise.

NAME _____ DATE _____ GROUP _____

A Fill in the gaps with the verbs in the box.

PRESS · SWIPE · TWIST · ~~SCAN~~ · LIFT · UNLOCK

Example: At the gym, scan your membership card at the door.

1. Don't _____ the barbell over your head without someone watching you.
2. _____ the start button on the treadmill to begin your workout.
3. To turn on the shower, _____ the handle to the right.
4. _____ up on the screen to see today's class schedule.
5. You need a code to _____ the lockers in the changing room.

B Read the grammar box. Then check (✔) the correct sentence in each pair.

GRAMMAR · THE PASSIVE (PRESENT & FUTURE)

Use the passive when the action is more important than who does it. Add by + person only when the doer is important.

Present: am / is / are + past participle · Future: will be + past participle

Positive:	Coffee is grown in Brazil.
Negative:	The tickets won't be sold online. / Dogs aren't allowed in the park.
Question:	Will the match be shown on TV? / Where are these phones made?

Example: a. The stadium is cleaned after every game. ✔ b. The stadium cleaned after every game.

1. a. Are the tickets sell at the gate? ____
   b. Are the tickets sold at the gate? ____
2. a. The final will played on Sunday. ____
   b. The final will be played on Sunday. ____
3. a. Food isn't allowed in the stands. ____
   b. Food doesn't allowed in the stands. ____
4. a. The new players will introduce to the fans tomorrow. ____
   b. The new players will be introduced to the fans tomorrow. ____
5. a. Where are the team shirts made? ____
   b. Where the team shirts are made? ____

C Choose the word that completes each compound noun.

Example: The factory workers / prices wear hairnets at the chocolate plant.

1. Every chocolate bar moves along the production line / designer before it's wrapped.
2. The fashion cleaner / designer used chocolate-brown silk for her new collection.
3. After the city marathon, street bottles / cleaners collected thousands of plastic cups.
4. Chocolate is cheap to make, but retail processes / prices at airports are very high.
5. On the tour, we learned about the manufacturing concept / process step by step.

D Read the grammar box. Then choose the correct relative pronoun.

GRAMMAR · RELATIVE PRONOUNS

who = people · which = things and animals · that = people or things, but only when there are no commas.

Extra information between commas → who / which (never that).

No commas: The man who / that fixed my bike is my neighbor.

Commas: My phone, which is five years old, still works.

Commas: My sister, who lives in Lima, is a doctor.

Example: The guide who / which showed us around Rome spoke five languages.

1. Our hotel, that / which was near the beach, had a great pool.
2. The bus who / that goes to the airport leaves every 20 minutes.
3. My cousin Rafa, who / that lives in Barcelona, met us at the station.
4. Tourists which / who visit Machu Picchu need to buy tickets in advance.
5. The Eiffel Tower, who / which was finished in 1889, gets millions of visitors every year.

E Choose the correct words to complete the conversation.

Example: The invitation says the dress 0. code / statement is "smart casual."

Sofia: I have a job interview at a bank tomorrow. Should I dress 1. down / up?

Mateo: Definitely. It's better to look too formal than 2. under / down dressed.

Sofia: True, but I don't want to look boring. Maybe I can make a fashion 3. code / statement with my shoes.

Mateo: Careful! Not everyone 4. makes / follows fashion like you do.

Sofia: OK, OK. At least blazers are 5. on / in fashion right now.

F Read the grammar box. Then complete the sentences with the correct form of the verb.

GRAMMAR · VERB + -ING

After a preposition (of, in, about, instead of, after), the next verb takes -ing. Some expressions also take -ing: end up, keep (on), look forward to.

Careful: in look forward to, "to" is a preposition → look forward to seeing (NOT to see).

Example: I'm interested in learning Japanese.

Example: Instead of taking the bus, we walked.

Example: We're looking forward to meeting you.

Example: Leo is tired of losing (lose) every game against his brother.

1. My grandmother is interested in _____ (learn) how to make video calls.
2. Instead of _____ (cook) dinner, we ordered tacos.
3. I'm really looking forward to _____ (watch) the final with my friends.
4. We got lost and ended up _____ (sleep) at the train station.
5. Ana is worried about _____ (forget) her lines in the school play.

G Read the box. Then complete the sentences with the verb form of the nouns in parentheses.

LANGUAGE BOX · NOUNS INTO VERBS

Many verbs are made by changing the ending of a noun: -ation → -ate (demonstration → demonstrate), -ism / -is → -ize, and some nouns simply add -en.

Example: Our science teacher will demonstrate (demonstration) how volcanoes erupt.

1. Music can really _____ (motivation) you when you're running.
2. Fans often _____ (criticism) the referee, even when he's right.
3. The sound of fireworks can _____ (fright) small children.
4. The doctor wanted to _____ (emphasis) that sleep is as important as food.
5. Countries need to _____ (cooperation) to protect the oceans.

H Read the grammar box. Then choose the correct words to complete the message.

GRAMMAR · WH- CLAUSES

A wh- word (what, where, when, why, how) can start a clause inside a sentence. After it, use normal word order: subject + verb.

✓ I wonder what time it is. ✗ I wonder what time is it.

After a verb: Nobody knows why the bus is late.
How + adj.: I don't know how old my grandfather's house is.
As subject: What you eat is important for your health.

> Example: I can't remember 0. where / when I left my keys.

Hi, Lucas,
I still can't believe you're moving to Canada! Can you tell me 1. what / when you're leaving? I don't understand 2. how / why you didn't tell me sooner! I wonder 3. what / where the winters are like — do you know 4. how / what cold it gets in Toronto? Please send me photos of 5. when / where you're going to live.
Miss you already!
Bea

I Complete the sentences with the correct word from the box.

TO · OUT · ~~ON~~ · AGAINST · UP · FOR

> Example: I was exhausted, but I kept on running until the finish line.

1. When you run in the park, watch _____ for cyclists — they go really fast.
2. Our team came up _____ a very strong opponent in the semifinal.
3. The other runners were so fast that I couldn't keep _____ with them.
4. Many young athletes look up _____ their coaches.
5. He trained twice as hard to make up _____ the weeks he missed.

J Rewrite the sentences in the passive.

QUICK REMINDER The object becomes the subject → be + past participle. Keep the same tense. Use by only if the doer is important.

> Example: They grow bananas in Ecuador. → Bananas are grown in Ecuador.

1. People speak Portuguese in Angola. →

2. The city will open a new metro line next year. →

3. They don't serve breakfast after 10 a.m. →

4. Will they announce the winners tonight? →

5. A robot cleans the hotel windows. →

K Circle the correct word to complete the sentences.

> Example: "Dr." is an abbreviation / slang for "Doctor."

1. "NASA" is an acronym / initialism because we say it as one word.
2. "Big" is a slang / synonym for "large."
3. My grandpa doesn't understand the slang / synonym my little brother uses, like "no cap."
4. "Synergy" is the new abbreviation / buzzword at my dad's company — everyone says it!
5. My phone was in my back pocket and I accidentally photobombed / pocket-dialed my teacher!
6. In our team photo, the mascot jumped in behind us. What a pocket-dial / photobomb!

L Join the sentences with who or which. Put the first sentence between commas.

QUICK REMINDER Extra information goes between commas → use who (people) or which (things), never that.

> Example: My uncle is a pilot. He flies to Japan every month. → My uncle, who is a pilot, flies to Japan every month.

1. Curitiba is in the south of Brazil. It has a famous botanical garden.

2. Joana is my best friend. She plays the drums.

3. The Amazon River flows into the Atlantic. It is over 6,000 km long.

4. Mr. Costa teaches history. He is retiring this year.

5. My laptop is very old. It still works perfectly.

M Complete the sentences about yourself. Use a verb + -ing.

QUICK REMINDER After prepositions and after end up / look forward to → verb + -ing.

> Example: I'm tired of hearing the same songs on the radio every day.

1. I'm interested in

2. Next weekend, I'm looking forward to

3. I'm sometimes worried about

4. Instead of _____ on Sunday mornings, I usually

5. The last time I went shopping, I ended up

N Complete the sentences with what, where, when, why or how.

QUICK REMINDER wh- word + subject + verb (normal word order). Use how + adjective/adverb for "how much / how fast."

> Example: Nobody knows how long the old bridge has been there.

1. I can't decide _____ I should wear to the party.
2. _____ you sit in class can affect your grades.
3. My mom wants to know _____ I'll be home tonight.
4. Nobody understands _____ the teacher canceled the trip.
5. It's amazing _____ fast babies learn new words.

O Read the text and choose True or False.

Can Animals Talk?

For centuries, people have believed that language is what makes humans special. But scientists who study animals are starting to ask whether that is really true.

Many animals clearly communicate. Honeybees perform a “waggle dance” that tells other bees in the hive where to find flowers. Vervet monkeys in Africa use different alarm calls for different dangers: one for leopards, another for eagles and another for snakes. When the monkeys hear the eagle call, they look up at the sky; when they hear the leopard call, they run up into the trees.

Some animals can even learn parts of human language. A border collie named Chaser learned to recognize the names of more than 1,000 toys, and some parrots can copy hundreds of words.

However, most researchers say this is not the same as real language. Humans can combine a small number of words to make an unlimited number of new sentences, and we can talk about the past, the future and things that don't even exist. So far, no animal has shown that it can do this.

Still, new technology may change what we know. Teams of scientists are now using AI to analyze thousands of hours of whale and elephant sounds, looking for patterns that human ears can't hear. If they find them, we may need to rethink what “talking” really means.

1. Bees can tell other bees where to find flowers. T / F
2. Vervet monkeys react differently depending on the alarm call they hear. T / F
3. Chaser the dog learned to say more than 1,000 words. T / F
4. Most researchers believe humans can create new sentences in a way animals can't. T / F
5. Scientists have already proven that whales use a language like ours. T / F

P Read the text and choose True or False.

Built to Break?

Twenty years ago, a family might buy a dining table and keep it for decades. Today, many people buy cheap furniture, use it for a few years and then throw it away. Experts call this “fast furniture.”

Fast furniture is popular for good reasons. It is cheap, it looks modern and it is delivered in flat boxes that fit in a car. Most pieces are made from particleboard — small pieces of wood that are glued and pressed together — which costs much less than solid wood.

The problem is what happens next. Particleboard often breaks when it is moved, and it is very difficult to repair or recycle. In the United States alone, more than 12 million tons of furniture are thrown away every year, and most of it ends up in landfills.

Some companies are trying to change this. A few brands now offer repair services, and others rent furniture to customers who move often, such as students. Second-hand furniture apps have also become very popular with young people.

Designers say the answer isn't to stop buying furniture, but to buy less and choose better. A good chair, they argue, should be passed down to your children, not thrown out after three years.

1. Fast furniture is usually more expensive than traditional furniture. T / F
2. Particleboard is made from small pieces of wood that are glued together. T / F
3. Particleboard furniture is easy to repair. T / F
4. Some companies rent furniture to people who move often. T / F
5. Designers think people should stop buying furniture completely. T / F